Company history/background

This is an interesting proposition for entrepreneurs who value a strong local store and at the same time see opportunities in online and business channels.

It concerns an independent wine and beverage retailer with a proven position in the neighbourhood and an operational webshop.

The formula relies on advice, product range, and experience. The company enjoys stable revenues with excellent margins.

The company is located in a busy shopping cluster with a pleasant business climate.

The building is leased; the total floor space includes retail space with a separate experience/test setup and storage, plus a spacious outdoor area.

Unique selling points

The company sees growth opportunities in the area of catering customers, additional online growth and more focus on workshops and tastings.

Other

This business is interesting for someone with an eye for this market who has always wanted to have their own liquor store.

The asking price, including stock, is €175,000.
