Company history/background

After 20+ years of experience in entrepreneurship, technology, startups, investing, and exits, we have started building a completely new startup model. Not a traditional incubator, accelerator, or investment fund, but a scalable approach where technology, AI, and founders come together.

Over the past period, we have worked with a compact team on a revolutionary structure that enables startups to build faster, grow smarter, and scale up more efficiently. Not by adding more people, but rather by working smarter.

The result: The fund is ready and the startups are ready for rollout.

We develop and grow startups through a unique model that requires less capital per startup and reduces the time to launch and grow by a factor of 10. A unique collaboration between the fund, companies, advisors, VCs, AI agents, and above all, founders.

The focus is on:

- Accelerating product development (building 10x faster)
- Supporting and developing founders
- Achieving initial traction and growth within 20 weeks
- Smart automation of operational processes
- Preparing follow-on financing as soon as momentum builds

Instead of large teams per startup, we build with smart AI structures that provide continuous support for strategy, growth, marketing, sales, product development, and operations.

Investors invest not in one startup, but in five startups at the same time.

Unique selling points

Where traditional startups often get bogged down in time, team capacity, costs, and a lack of focus, we largely remove precisely those limitations.

Our distinguishing feature lies in:

- A scalable AI-first startup model
- 24/7 support via smart AI agents
- Developing and growing multiple startups simultaneously (25 in total in the fund)
- The fund continues to invest in startups that break through and grow.
- Strong combination of technology, entrepreneurship, and investment experience
- Compact operation with high scalability
- Direct focus on traction, growth, and follow-on financing
- Large board of advisors in the fund

- Companies involved in the fund
- VCs monitoring the startups from day one in search of the next winner

We believe that the next generation of startups is not built with larger teams, but with smarter systems.

This is not theory or wishful thinking. This model is ready to be rolled out.

Other

We are looking for entrepreneurs, investors, and strategic partners who understand that the way startups are built is fundamentally changing.

People who do not just want to invest in a single idea, but want to be part of a completely new startup ecosystem of 25 startups.

Entry is possible from €10,000.

I could write more than 1,000 words about this. About why this model works, why it is scalable, and why it is going to change the startup landscape. But we would rather have that conversation in person.
