Company history/background

Craftsmanship, experience and growth

In the central Netherlands stands a modern wood factory where craftsmanship and innovation meet. What once began as a rescue operation for a closing factory has since grown into a manufacturing company with a successful consumer label for custom-made oak tables and interior furnishings.

Company profile and distinguishing factors:

The company has its own factory equipped with state-of-the-art machinery and a compact, experienced team (2 people). The combination of craftsmanship, quality, and a strong online reach forms a solid foundation for further growth. From this base, work is carried out daily on sustainable, custom-made products that find their way to both private and professional clients. The current owner has built the company over the past fifteen years with a passion for wood, design, and customer experience. His strength lies in developing new products, inspiring customers, and strengthening the brand story.
