Company history/background

The nationwide network Finovion Premium is seeking successful administration and tax advisory firms looking to focus on continuity, growth, or future succession. The network targets firms with up to €1 million in revenue that wish to continue operating independently and under their own name, but want to benefit from economies of scale by collaborating with other firms and sharing costs.

We are seeking firms active in administrative services, accountancy-related activities, and tax advice, particularly for SME clients. The collaboration is intended for firm owners who wish to future-proof their firm, better organize personnel and succession, and utilize shared ICT and labor market facilities.

Unique selling points

The principles of Finovion Premium:

- Retention of own firm name, identity, and personal client relationships;
- You are willing to transfer 60% of the ownership for a market-rate fee upon connection;
- You intend to remain involved (partially) as an office owner for at least six years;
- You aim to transition to the shared ICT pipeline within three years;
- You need support with office succession and finding qualified personnel;
- Access to labor market facilities, recruitment, and a joint “careers” approach;
- Economies of scale through central ICT, uniform work processes, and support;
- Opportunity for value growth through collaboration, cost advantages, and an expanded network;
- Part of a collegial network of administration and tax advisory firms.

Other

This proposition is interesting for office owners who want to expand, arrange succession in a timely manner, or make their office less dependent on staff shortages and are looking for an opportunity to heavily automate routine work using AI. The office owner retains control, while work is done step by step towards continuity, improved profitability, and a sustainable future for clients and employees.

MBI candidates

Finovion Premium is always looking for MBI candidates willing to join the management of an administration firm as a shareholder or to acquire a firm. If you have an accountancy or financial background and extensive work experience, our network offers a wide range of opportunities. Finovion Premium has in-house financing options available.
