Company history/background

For acquisition: a nationwide recruitment agency for healthcare professionals. Since its founding, the company has built a strong position within a number of large healthcare organizations and is known for its speed, reliability, and focus on quality.

The company applies strict selection criteria and works exclusively with healthcare professionals who meet the high qualification and quality requirements of its clients. A small team of freelancers handles planning and back office operations.

Unique selling points

The company has experienced strong growth in recent years. And even now, the management sees significant growth opportunities for the coming years. The underlying market is supported by structural trends such as an aging population, increasing demand for care, and persistent staff shortages within the healthcare sector.

If a client requests a staffing arrangement, that option is also available through an external back-office party. Few clients make use of this.

Other

In the past period, processes have been further professionalized and documented, making the organization less dependent on the entrepreneurs.
